YOU WILL NEVER BE SORRY FOR…

There are many things that people do that they regret, but there are certain things that we as Christians will never be sorry for. We will never be sorry for:

-Thinking before we act,
-Listening to the all the facts before judging another,
-Forgiving our enemies,
-Praying for those who would insult and falsely accuse us,
-Helping a brother who has fallen,
-Being honest in all things,
-Choosing your words to build up and encourage the good in others,
-Standing in defense of the word of God,
-Closing your ears to gossip,
-Bridling your tongue,
-Dwelling on pure thoughts,
-Sympathizing with those who are suffering,
-Showing kindness and love to all,
-Loving Jesus with all your heart, soul, strength, and mind.

Others may not understand when we do these things. They may be unreasonable, illogical, and self-centered, but we forgive them anyway. They may accuse us of selfish, ulterior motives, but we do right anyway. They may try to cheat us, but we are honest anyway. They may be jealous of the Christian's peace and serenity, but demonstrate joy anyway. People will forget or ignore the good we do, but we continue to do good anyway. The world may try to tear down what you have spent years building up, but we keep building anyway. Why do we do these things? Because in the final analysis, our goal is to please God and serve him – and it was never about what others felt was right, but what our Father in heaven says is right. So we live for God anyway, no matter what others may do and then we will have nothing to be sorry for.
